Local Woman Dies In West Virginia

Mrs. William Reese died on last Thursday at the home of her son, Harry Reese in Charleston, W. Va., of acute indigestion. Mrs. Reese died in 30 minutes after the attack. She was about 75 years old and is survived by her husband, William Reese, of Lexington, two sons, Geo. of Pineville, and Harry, of Charleston, W. Va., and two daughters, Mrs. Wickliffe Bush, of Lexington, and Mrs. Fannie Reese, of this city. Remains were brought here and after funeral services at the Christian church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Clyde Darsie, assisted by Judge D. B. Garrison, who delivered the funeral oration, was buried in Machpelah cemetery. Mrs. Reese was truly an ideal Christian woman. The husband and children were all here to attend funeral services and lay to rest the one dear to their hearts.

Contrihuted

"Granny" Reese is dead. A merciful Father looked down in pity and released her spotless soul from its pain-wracked tenement of clay. Her sightless eyes are sealed in that dreamless sleep until they shall be re-opened by the Great Physician to gaze forever upon the never-fading beauty of the Eternal City, where there is no blindness, no sickness, no tears. Earth is poorer for her going, while Heaven is enriched by her presence. Truly she was a mother of Israel. Her home a sacred shrine, an earthly paradise, hallowed by her presence, which ideal she attained through self-sacrifice and a devotion to her loved ones as pure and deep as that of Ruth of old.

Her home was the haven of all burdened with trouble and care. Thera to her countless friends she ever extended a hearty, wholesome welcome and dispensed boundless hospitality.

To the casual observer she was but a badly crippled woman, walking painfully along life's way, but to those to whom she came in the hour of affliction and death she was one of God's angels of mercy, all of the Clara Bartons and Florence Nightingales of earth are not immortalized in marble, nor their deathless deeds told in song and story. For she was one of the unsung heroines of earth. Where duty called, it matters not, whether it was the mansion of the rich, where plenty and influence abounded, or the pauper's hut, where want and hunger lurked, she ever responded in an impartial manner, giving her strength and means to the utmost to alleviate pain and hunger. Her kindly face was the first upon which many a little stranger ushered into this world looked; while a voyager unbartering upon that tideless sea, looked last upon her heaven-kissed countenance.

Disdaining the paltry pursuit of earthly riches and attainments she chose the better part, fought the good fight, kept the faith and won at last the imperishable crown that all the wealth of the world cannot buy. May the grass of Machpelah, kissed to soul by the gentle zephyrs an golden ray of springtime, grow verdant and tender upon her windowless parace of death. May the

War Mothers Meet

The executive committee of the Montgomery County Chapter of The American War Mothers was called to meet with Mrs. A. B. Oldham, the County War Mother, on Friday, January 28th, at 3 P. M., for an informal discussion of business affairs relating to the future action and policy of the organization. In accordance with a ruling of the State Executive Board it was arranged to hold a meeting regularly each month the first one to be on Tuesday, February 22nd, 2.30 P. M., at the History Club Room. This meeting will be addressed by Dr. Bush, who is administering medical treatment to fifty-three soldier boys in Montgomery county. It was decided to use every effort to secure a full attendance of war mothers at the February meeting. The proposition to assist The American Legion boys in the furnishing of their headquarters, was heartily endorsed, and a recommendation made that this undertaking be the business subject of the next meeting.

It is within the jurisdiction of the offices of each chapter to decide upon the dues for their own organization, the committee for the Montgomery Chapter placed the dues at 50 cents per year per capita. Twenty-five cents of this sum goes to the National, and ten cents to the state, leaving fifteen cents for expenses and work of the home organization. The previous enrollment was reported as fifty-five members, one of these deceased this winter. The treasurer reported seven dollars in the treasury. National dues, now amounting to $13.50, must be paid not later than February 1st., so that the Montgomery Chapter may not be delinquent.

Since the definite aim of the American War Mothers is to administer aid and comfort to our disabled boys and their families, to compile records relating to their military service which will be of historical value to their descendants and our several states, and to cooperate with the American Legion in every possible way, it was the opinion of the committee, a duty which every war mother owes to her soldier son, to enroll and take an active part in the organization in recognition of his service to his country. Enrollment of other war mothers of the county will take place at the February meeting.

Knights Templar Meet Local Market

An informal meeting of the members of Montgomery Commandery No. 5 Knights Templar was held at the Mt. Sterling National Bank on Thursday evening to make preliminary arrangements for the entertainment of the Grand Commandery May 17th, 18th and 19th.

This commandery expects to make this the greatest event in the history of our city.

A number of the best homes in the city have already been tendered the commandery and progress will be announced in these columns from time to time.

BASKET BALL

On next Friday evening, February 4th, at Trimble's Hall, the City High School Basket Ball teams, boys and girls, will play the Winchester City High School teams. The first game will be called promptly at 7:30.

These games have promise of being the closest, best and most exciting of the season. Some time ago our teams went to Winchester and met defeat at the hands of the boys and girls who are coming here Friday night. However, the scores were close and our teams are working hard to even matters up at the next game.

We understand that a great many people in Mt. Sterling have never seen a basket ball game. If you want a little excitement, come next Friday night. We believe you will like it.

TO THE DEMOCRATS OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY

For ten years, as chief deputy County Court Clerk, I have tried to serve the public efficiently, promptly and politely. It has long been a general custom, where a deputy has rendered satisfaction, to honor him by election as clerk. Naturally I hope I may not be made an exception to the rule and if you think I could fill the office in an acceptable manner I shall be ever grateful for your support and influence.

Very respectfully yours,
LINDSEY DOUGLAS.

TWO EXCITING GAMES

Last Friday night at Trimble's Hall the Mt. Sterling High School Basket Ball teams defeated the Carlisle High School Basket Ball teams.

The boys' game was fast and exciting from the very beginning. The girls played a somewhat slower and less enthusiastic game.

The boys won by a score of 26 to 16, the girls by a score of 23 to 7.

Miss Henderson Marries

Miss Leota Henderson, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Henderson, and one of this city's loveliest young girls, was married in Paris Friday to W. T. Barlow, of Carlisle. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Ellis, of the Christian church of that city. The couple were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Allie Henderson, who acted as their attendants.

The bride is a beautiful and accomplished girl and is very popular. Mr. Barlow is well known here and is prominent in social and business circles of his home town.

The couple after a short honeymoon trip will return to Carlisle to make their home.

CARD TO VOTERS

To the Democratic voters of Montgomery County:

After due and careful consideration I have decided to enter the race for the Democratic nomination for Sheriff, and take this method of announcing as candidate for the office. I have lived in this county all my life and have taken an active interest in every campaign for the success of the party to which I belong. I will not align myself with any political clique or ring, but will make the race on my own merits. If nominated and elected I pledge myself to give personal attention to the duties of the office and to enforce every law as it is written, fearlessly and without favor. In the event of my election L. Beall Madden, of the Levee precinct, will be my deputy. If the people feel that I am competent to fill the office of Sheriff I will appreciate their support.

Respectfully,
CHAS. E. DUFF.

Schlegel Makes Good

The following clipping from the Huntington Dispatch Herald will be of much interest in Mt. Sterling, where Mr. Schlegel was born and reared, and where he has a great many friends and admirers:

"Among Huntington salesmen who made big showings in 1920, one of the conspicuous successes was Geo. Schlegel, who travels out of Huntington, representing Berry Brothers, varnish manufacturers, of Detroit, in West Virginia, Kentucky and part of Ohio. An official bulletin from the home office of Berry Brothers shows that Mr. Schlegel ranked second among the salesmen of the company in November, having disposed of 219 per cent of his quota. The bulletin added that Mr. Schlegel seemed certain of the vice presidency of the 1920 Hundred Percent Club. This means that he ranked second among the company salesmen for 1920. This is a country-wide competition and reflects not only the salesmanship of Mr. Schlegel, but the productivity of the Huntington district."

Suffering Ends For Henry P. Reid

Although not unexpected, the announcement that Henry P. Reid had died at 4 o'clock Sunday morning at his home on the Winchester pike, cast a deep gloom over the entire community.

"Peaceful," as he was affectionately called by a host of friends, was one of the most popular young men that ever lived within the confines of Montgomery county. He had been a constant sufferer since early manhood, but bore his suffering without a word of complaint and was never known to mention his condition unless asked how he felt. His friends were numbered only by his acquaintances and though his frail body has been called from this earth his jovial disposition and true example of noble manhood will live long after his remains are lowered beneath the sod.

At the time of his death he was only 35 years of age, just when a young man should be in his prime, but the all-wise and knowing Father saw fit to take this young man Home and now he peacefully sleeps in a home not builded with hands—where suffering is unknown.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Emilee H. Reid and son, Billy, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Dan Chenault and Mrs. George R. Snyder, of this city and two brothers, J. Coleman Reid, of this county and W. H. Reid, of New York. The funeral was held at his late home Monday afternoon with services conducted by his pastor, Rev. Clyde Darsie, of the Christian church, and his remains laid to rest in the cemetery at Winchester beside his father and mother, the late J. Davis and Mrs. Nettie Prewitt Reid.

The beautiful floral offerings and large gathering that assembled to pay their last respects to the noble young man was indeed a spectacle that proved the esteem in which he was held.

As a friend, husband, father, son, brother, he was the very embodiment of all that goes to represent a life that lives after the grave. "Old Pard," you are gone, but not forgotten, and the friends you have left behind will be the better for your having lived, and the brief years you spent on this earth will ever linger in the memory of your friends.

May God in His infinite wisdom be very close to your dear wife and devoted little boy and comfort them in the thought that He doeth all things for the best.

PRISCILLA DEAN
"Helping the Digestion"

An eminent English physician said that more people shorten their lives by overeating than by starvation, and that an unnecessary excess of animal food not only leads to physical disorders, but to an irritable and irascible frame of mind.

Harvey, who discovered the circulation of the blood, originated the saying, "Sorry fare, free from care."

Honoree Fletcher recovered his health by eating in moderation, after he had been made an almost hopeless victim of indulging his palate. It was Fletcher who originated the system of chewing a certain number of times with every mouthful, so that a minimum of food went into the stomach with a maximum of gastric juices.

Professor Bouchard, the French savant, likened the body to a furnace which burned off the foods taken into the stomach. He claimed that the imperfectly consumed foods remained in the system clogging it as the cinders, cinders and ashes clog a furnace if it is not perfectly cleaned out.

You will observe from the saying of these men and others could quote that the consensus of opinion is in favor of a light diet.

If you are troubled with a heavy feeling, pains in your head, your nerves on edge and a feeling perhaps of depression, certain of mental sluggishness, you should consult your doctor and ask him to prepare for you a diet showing you just how many proteins, carbohydrates and fats you should take into your system.

The proteins are the structure builders of the body. We are not able to store up proteins. When one eats more than is required it must be immediately split up and its irritating poisons carried off by the elementary organs. The eating of sugar, starches and fats in over abundance is not such a serious matter as they can be more readily eliminated.

A low protein diet is to be favored, as it increases resistance to disease and does not wear out the body so much in its effort to digest it. That is one reason many doctors advise leaving out meat during the warm weather, when it is not needed. It is also constipating.

Nourishment of a laxative nature are all green vegetables and fruit, barley, oatmeal and whole wheat bread.

In cold climates men need more oils and fats, while in the tropics they require more fruit and grain. The inclination of the natural, unspoiled appetite will show what the system needs.

Taking into the body what it cannot use is also another great cause of dyspepsia. Under this head come all drugs, alcoholic liquors, and everything which cannot be converted into tissue. They inflame the kidneys, liver and lungs and weaken the strength of the entire system of the body.

Never eat when worried or angry. Deaths have been caused in this manner. The food absorbed turns to poison, because it remains absolutely undigested.

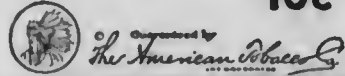

If your stomach is in a sour condition, give it entire rest until this condition has been relieved. No matter how long it lasts, starve yourself until the digestive apparatus is once more able to resume its work. Putting food in a fermenting stomach is the worst folly one can be capable of, and any craving for food at such a time is simply a sign that the gas in the stomach is working, not that there is a healthy appetite.

Let the stomach rest between the meals, that it may become absolutely clean and empty, and have a chance to recuperate from its previous efforts. The digestive apparatus, like anything else, may become tired and considerably weakened through never having a rest.

Last and not least, if you have a weak digestion, cut out the habit of eating before you go to bed. This is not necessary and makes you wake up in the morning with a furry tongue and a tired feeling, instead of being rested and hungry for your breakfast.

Try eating less and balancing your rations. You will be rewarded by a better complexion, a more slender figure and renewed vivacity and brain power.

Mrs. M. J. O'Neill, 76 N. Queen street, Mt. Sterling, says: "I was annoyed with a lameness and painful backache and my feet swelled. My kidneys weren't acting right and in many ways showed signs of disorder. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills being good, so I began using them. They rid me of the trouble entirely. Since then I haven't had a return of my former complaint."

THE LINTYPER

I've heard it said the lino man Has nothing much to do, But sit around and smoke his pipe, And set a line or two; But there's nothing to that pipe dream stuff,

There's nothing 'bout it true, The dope is Bolshevik, friend, That's what I'm tellin' you.

The linter starts to work, At peace with all the world, But soon he starts a-frettin' An' his head begins to whirl; For the e's begin to double up, And the s's will not drop, Then to help the thing along, The distributor will stop.

Then he'll start right in to cuss For his feelin's sure are hurt, 'Cause the cussed old machine Then begins to squirt. The matrices will then take their turn And fall upon the floor, Which surely is enough, I'll say, To make the devil sore.

Then when he got it all fixed up And all was going fine, The "make-up" guy came over An' asked for a ten-point line; Then the "head-man" followed With a head he wanted set, An' I guess the linter Is a cussin' at him yet.

Soon the editor came rushin' With an error he had seen, And said, "Make this correction— Put on the six-point magazine." He was followed by the foreman, Who was in a hurry for a line, So's he could get the news forms Down to the press on time.

And so it goes from morn 'till night, All through the live-long day, No wonder then, the lino man Is getting bald and gray. They keep him on the hop and jump, He has no time to play, But yet his job is one big cinch, That's what I've heard 'em say. —Roy C. Lewis.

Feels Like Praising Tanlac to Skies After What It Has Done For Her

"I have just finished my second bottle of Tanlac and am already rid of troubles that bothered me for three years," said Mrs. Chas. Grounds, of 111 Fifteenth St., Ashland, Ky.

"I could scarcely eat anything without suffering from indigestion. After every meal I had a heavy feeling in the pit of my stomach, with a smothering sensation and violent palpitation of the heart. These troubles got so much worse at night I often had to get up and walk the floor in order to breathe. I was so nervous it was almost impossible for me to get a good night's sleep. My kidneys bothered me and I had severe pains in my back and sides. I was badly constipated and subject to terrible headaches, in fact, I was in such pain nearly all the time I could hardly get around."

"I kept reading and hearing about Tanlac and I decided to try it, and now I actually feel like a different woman. I have a splendid appetite and can eat just anything I want and never have any bad after effects. I no longer suffer from constipation or headaches. My kidneys have quit bothering me and my nerves have quieted down. I can now sleep soundly for eight hours or more and wake up feeling fine, and full of energy. Tanlac has brought me out so wonderfully I feel like praising it to the skies and I never expect to be without it."

Tanlac is sold in Mt. Sterling by Land & Priest.

Farm Agents End Meetings

Kentucky's 67 county farm agents and 21 home demonstration agents completed their respective annual conference at the State College of Agriculture Monday. Separate meetings of both conferences were held in the mornings, afternoons and in the evenings of the session, during which the agents discussed problems relating to the furthering of the work in their counties during the coming year. In addition to local speakers (Lexington) who addressed the agents, a large number of special speakers talked to them on subjects relating to their work.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried everything I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her."

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since... I sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments. If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too. At all druggists. B 85

Irvin Cobb Draws Humorous Picture

In a speech before the Kentucky Society of New York, delivered last week, Irvin S. Cobb dealt in a humorous way with the glories of his native state. Following is the press
report of the affair:

Mr. Cobb told a story of a man who boasted to his friends that he had been "all over and had seen everything." A stranger, overhearing his boast, asked him whether he ever had delirium tremens. The man said he had not. "Well, then, stranger," was the reply, "you ain't been nowhere and you ain't never seen anything." A person who has never been to Kentucky "ain't never been nowhere, and ain't never seen nothing," said Mr. Cobb.

"I might spend a congenial half hour telling the members of the Kentucky Society what they mean in the civic, social and economic life of this great city to which they have been transplanted—of what a gap would be left in New York, big as she is, were those who sit here tonight suddenly removed from their midst," said the author.

"But all this you know without my recalling it to you. Lack of self appreciation was never a fault of a true Kentuckian. Some are. I may say, almost passionately addicted to themselves.

"There is a legend that Kentuckians are greater of stature than the citizens of any other state, with the exception of Tennessee. I think this impression is due to the fact that every time a Kentuckian remembers where he came from he rears back so far he seems at least eighteen inches taller than he really is. We are of the breed that can strut sitting down.

"Unaccustomed as I now am to public drinking, I find that guests at a public dinner do not bear with a speaker so kindly as they did in the days before wine, women and song were succeeded by Bevo, your own wife and congregational singing.

"But there is one subject touching which I feel that I am on safe ground, and that is the subject of Kentucky. Boneheads may make her
dry. Her mint patches may languish vainly for the Kentucky julep, which originated before the revolution, and which some people think had a good deal to do with the bringing on of it.

"Her distilleries may be converted into fertilizer works, her corner taverns may turn into delicatessen shops, her Colonels no longer be full of corn and her corn destined never again to bring cheer to her Colonels.

"The tobacco trust, following the example of its prototype of the insect world, the tobacco worm, may cut down the second of her great crops to the vanishing point, where no longer the head of Columbia will be wretched about the fragrant incense of burley leaf, but all the same to us, she'll forever be the state where the sun shines the brightest—the state which we love and which tonight we toast in sparkling viehy.

"Why shouldn't the Kentuckian be proud. Kentucky in the sisterhood of states enjoys a peculiar and an unapproachable place. If she is deplorably high in illiteracy let us remember that in the great world war she was one of the foremost among those states which led all the rest in the physical fitness and the willingness to serve of her manhood;
thereby duplicating her unparalleled
record in the 60's, when Kentucky
ganged on percentage of the division of sentiment among her own people gave, in proportion to her Union population more volunteers to the North than Ohio did and in proportion to her Confederate population, more volunteers to the South than did Florida; sending to both armies more recruited troops than she had enrolled voters.

"We may not lead the nation in finance; although occasionally we do breed a Coleman du Pont, but we produce more poets to the acre than any like area of the world's habitable surface. Not all Kentuckians write poetry, but all Kentuckians think poetry.

"Her population may not have grown so fast in the last decade as has that of some of her sister states, West and North, but for that we are consolated by the reflection that it is better for a man to be born a lone orphan in Kentucky than for him to be born as duly authenticated twins
in Kansas.

"Once she was the hanned democratic state of the Solid South. Lately she has shown a startling increase in the number of young republicans, which is only to be accounted for on the ground that up in Governor Morrow's end of the state there must be a strong admixture of Belgian hare in the population.

"Reformers may work their way into her externals, but so long as blue grass grows and pennyrite has fragrance, what she has been, always that she will be—the state where hospitality is a religion and kindliness is a creed; the state that produced an Abe Lincoln and a Jefferson Davis, a Boone and a Breckinridge, an Albert Sidney Johnston and a John H. Morgan; a Shelby and a Clay; the State which may yet produce a president of tomorrow, fashioned from the Morrow of today."

SERIOUS SYMPTOMS OF CRANUM COBWEBS

For a certain diagnosis
Of your own mentality
It is quite unnecessary
To employ a wise M. D.

If you think the League of Nations
In Gehenna should remain,
Let a soldier fresh from Flanders
Diagnose your ailing brain.

If opposed to peaceful progress
Of the proletariat,
There are surely cobwebs somewhere
Underneath your dusty hat.

If you are a Bolshevik
In this great Democracy,
There must be some cobwebs lurking Where your think-tank ought to be

If you think the toiling masses
Have no right to organize
For collective human dealing,
There are cobwebs 'round your eyes.

If you don't believe it pays to Advertise what you would sell,
You have cobwebs in your belfry
And you seldom ring the bell.

man can't kick the brake off his makes a noise like a 14-inch gun be-

A rich man can't get to heaven through the needle's eye, but he never has trouble getting a lift over the fence.

EDUCATIONAL TOOTH TALK—34 Useless Fear

Many people associate intense pain
with dental treatment and stay away from the dentist just as long as they can. In fact they will wait until their actual pain is worse than the pain they imagine is awaiting them at his office. Then they go in fear and trembling. Most of this is pure imagination, or, if there is actual discomfort it is brought about by earlier neglect. Troubles treated at the proper time need not be painful in the least; it is only those who neglect
the early warnings who really suffer
in the end.—Dr. H. M. Wright, Traders Bank Building.

An aviator, however, isn't the only one who has the most trouble after he begins to go down.

Going along the road we hope for the best, and when you strike the worst, just make believe it didn't happen.

It is well to remember that when you tell a secret to a friend you are telling it to all of your friend's friends.

FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

We are in this issue presenting the name of W. A. Samuels as a candidate to succeed himself as County Attorney, subject to the action of the Democratic party in primary of August 6th. As County Attorney Mr. Samuels is by no means a novice, for his record for three years past is before the people and while he considers himself well equipped to meet all requirements, experience in this office better prepares him for coming duties. During the past year of the present term of office

Cases have presented themselves that try the souls of men and while friends have been arraigned at law, cases in Attorney Samuels' hands have been discussed and forced to a just rendering, regardless of whether it be friend or foe, that was being tried. Mr. Samuels comes before the people asking them to consider his claims from the point of merit only. We are sure our people will consider well his claims and will justly decide according to Mr. Samuels' request, on merit alone.

FOR CIRCUIT COURT CLERK

John H. Blount is a candidate for Circuit Court Clerk, subject to the action of the Democratic party in primary of August 6th. As citizen, as Democrat, and as Circuit Court Clerk, Mr. Blount needs no introduction by any man. His life up to this good hour, is before the people, his Democracy is without stain and the records in his office show efficiency as Circuit Court Clerk. Mr. Blount asks endorsement not alone for the pay that goes with the office, but because he has a pride in doing this kind of work. His records are always to date, the state has no increase of expense because of tardiness or inefficiency and for these reasons and others he might mention that he feels that he should be endorsed for a full term. The people who know him best can testify as to his standing on all moral questions and whenever his party is most concerned over questions vital party leaders can testify as to his liberality in helping to create an expense fund by the use of which the party has been enabled to present most intelligently its side to the voters. If being active and helpful means anything Mr. Blount feels the Democracy should recognize his worth. Mr. Blount asks us to say that at a time in the near future he will name his assistant. The voters we are sure will consider well Mr. Blount's claims and will act accordingly

DESIRES PROMOTION

Lindsay R. Douglas has authorized us to announce him as a candidate to the office of County Court Clerk. For the past two terms he has served as Deputy Clerk and has since early manhood been a loyal party worker, serving as Democratic Campaign Chairman for several years, and as such has made many warm friends who will rally to his support at the primary in August. Mr. Douglas is a son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Douglas, of the Levee precinct, and has many friends and relatives all over the county who will endeavor to see that he is elevated to the office to which he aspires.

CHAS. E. DUFF ANNOUNCES FOR SHERIFF

In the proper place in this issue will be found the announcement of

Chas. E. Duff as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Sheriff of Montgomery county, subject to the primary of August 6th, 1921. Mr. Duff is a native of Montgomery county, and is one of our most prominent and influential farmers. He is known as a correct and progressive business man and is thoroughly competent to handle the duties of the office to which he aspires. He has been a consistent Democrat and party worker all his life and asks for the nomination on his merits. If nominated and elected he will have for his Chief Deputy L. Beall Hadden, of the Levee precinct. Mr. Hadden is a son of the late Nick Hadden, Jr., and is one of our most popular young farmers, and is widely connected throughout the county. We bespeak for their claims most earnest consideration

Who's a Good Adviser?

Advice is the cheapest thing there is. Every day you get a lot of it, probably mostly from people who have something to sell you.

But disinterested advice, from people who know more than one side of the subject, doesn't come so easily. You have, generally, to ask for it.

That is the way to think of advice about insurance. And the one best man to ask is your banker. He will be glad to advise you (he hates to see any of the community's money lost or wasted); he knows; he is disinterested. That is the kind of advice we urge every prospect to seek—and we are quite willing to have you ask your banker about any insurance contract offered by this house, and to recommend that you do exactly what he says.

HAY AND FEED—Bad roads and stormy weather curtailed hay shipments in the West. Receipts light. Timothy prices fairly steady at recent declines. Alfalfa quotes 50c over last week's prices. Demand is limited. Low grade prairie almost unsalable. Eastern markets dull because of light demand. Quoted January, 26; timothy, New York, $32.50; Cincinnati, $26; Chicago, 23; Minneapolis, $20. Number 1 alfalfa, Kansas City, $25; Omaha, 21; No. 1 prairie, Kansas City, $13.50; Omaha, $11; Minneapolis, $15.

The demand for feed shows little improvement. Stocks in feeders' hands appear ample and production of several feedstuffs is reported as heavier than for some time. Market shows declines of 20c from last week, hominy feed showing the greatest loss in price. Linseed meal and cottonseed meal firm, but inactive. Alfalfa meal weak. Jobbers and dealers well supplied and showing no desire to increase holdings. A better inquiry is reported in southeastern and northeastern sections than in the southwest and northwest. Elgin, Tenn.—"I can say that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and his 'Pleasant Pellets' have been the means of restoring my health. I was weak and run-down, had sick headaches, and my kidneys were all out of order. It was a misery for me to walk around. I began taking Dr. Pierce's medicine and they put me on the road to good health right away. I want to speak a good word for Dr. Pierce's remedies to all sufferers." — HARRISON SHEPARD, R. F. TAKE PEPTO-MANGAN

Fortify Your System—Good Blood
Will Give You New Strength
to Keep Well

If you feel the least bit run down not necessarily sick, but tired and blue and sort of down and out, it shows plainly that your power of resistance is low.

It is dangerous to go around that way. You don't want to do it.

Make no mistake about it. when you feel yourself slipping into lazy habits, getting indifferent to the things you naturally like—no energy, no vigor, always tired—it is time to look out. It may not mean that you are sick or that you will be. But there are diseases that would have an easy time of it with your system when your blood has no fighting qualities.

You want to be well and keep well and feel strong. If you build up the quality of your blood by taking Pepto-Mangan you will be in trim to fight off winter ills. It has just the right ingredients to build blood up with rich, red corpuscles.

Pepto-Mangan gives your blood the qualities it needs to pick you up and start you off on a healthy basis. You will notice the difference soon after you start taking it. You will have better color, better feeling, and more energy.

You can take it in liquid or tablet form as you prefer. Both have the same ingredients. But be sure you get the genuine Gude's Pepto-Mangan. Ask for it by that name—"Gude's Pepto-Mangan," and be sure the full name is on the package.—Advertisement.

Tilton Now Heads Hardware Men

J. W. Tilton, Carlisle, was elected president of the Kentucky Hardware and Implement Dealers' Association to succeed A. T. Byron, Owingville, at the annual election of officers, held by the association in convention at the Jefferson County Armory, Louisville.

Other officers elected were: First vice president, R. L. Jackson, Dixon, and second vice president, Joseph Lucas, Franklin. J. M. Stone, Sturgis, was re-elected secretary and treasurer. The new board of directors, in addition to the officers, is composed of William G. Engle, Hazard; Gus Albrecht, Jr., Louisville, and Mr. Byron. J. C. Kirehdorfer, Louisville, was made a national delegate.

At the session it was decided to omit the word "dealers" in the official name of the organization.

In a discussion of business conditions and methods R. H. Kennedy, Dayton, Ohio, declared that the reports of mercantile agencies show that 84 per cent of the retail firms in America that failed last year were those which did not advertise in the local newspapers.

"A man must know his business thoroughly before he can be successful," Mr. Kennedy declared. "The overhead expense, what the work costs, how to attract trade by service and how to fix the selling price to give a net profit to the dealer or merchant and not overcharge the customer, and the importance of buying must be studied."

The speaker predicted improved business conditions in the immediate future through a readjustment of foreign trade, and through the co-operation of business interests.

He expressed the opinion that the textile mills soon would reopen and that there would be a revival of the building industry.

In his annual report to the association Mr. Stone told of the activities and progress of the organization, and said that 101 new members had joined the association during the last year. The membership is now more than 500.

G. W. Collins, former president of the Federation of Implement Dealers, Bellville, Kan., and Carl Jacobs, Stevens Point, Wis., also made ad-resses.

The convention closed with a meeting of the executive committee at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

At this time of the year care of the Kentucky farm brood mare so that she will be in good flesh, is the most important thing in preparing for the arrival of the colt, is the statement of W. S. Anderson, of the Animal Husbandry Department of the State College of Agriculture. If the mare is not in good flesh she should be examined for bad teeth, her feet inspected for defects and her coat of hair for vermin. Her feed should also be changed so that she is receiving a good supply of bran mash mixed with linseed oil meal in her grain ration and if necessary more grain and roughage supplied. By foaling time she should be in good condition, in order to be able to properly nurse her colt, according to Mr. Anderson.

Further suggestions by Mr. Anderson on the care of the mare at this time included the statement that as the time for foaling approached she should either be placed alone or where she would not have more than one or two quiet horses with her. Little work should be given the mare for three or four weeks before the time for the arrival of the colt, and if it is necessary for her to be put in the harness she should do nothing that is of a severe or rough nature.

Unless it is warm enough for her to foal in the pasture, the mare should be provided with a comfortable box stall. The stall should be cleaned to the solid ground and it covered with slacked or powdered lime, according to Mr. Anderson. The walls should be sprayed with a disinfectant of whitewash and a thick bed of straw placed on the floor of the stall.

Infection of the navel of the colt may be prevented by dusting it with powdered lime, according to the recommendation of livestock specialists. For the first few days after the arrival of the colt the mare should be fed lightly after which she should have plenty of feed or enough for herself and an additional quantity to make milk for the colt. If she has done well she may be rebred after eight or nine days.

Mares with colts at their side should not be given any work for two or three weeks after the arrival of the foal and severe work only after 60 days. If the mother is required to work after this length of time she should be given extra feed. According to Mr. Anderson the best treatment for the colt is to leave it in the box stall, or turn it out, to run with other colts on the farm, while its mother is at work. It is only necessary for the foal to nurse during the noon hour when it stays with its mother at night.

You have to roll with the world if you wish to get to the bright side, and incidentally give it a push when the wheels run slow.

Give trouble the middle of the road

for us to have sold in two days the vast amount of merchandise that passed out of our store on Friday and Saturday—All day both days, the huge crowds of anxious buyers surged in through the Main Street entrance of our new location, made their purchases, and left by the Short Street exit, so that there was little confusion or inconvenience in serving them by our force of almost one hundred trained salespeople.

On every side we heard expressions of satisfaction from customers as to the wonderful values we were giving, as well as the excellent service rendered under the unusual circumstances which accompanied a fire sale of such huge proportions as this.

We still have in our big stock about 3,000 men's and boys' suits and overcoats that bear no evidence of having passed through a fire, and are in as perfect condition as they were the day they left the factory. In spite of the tremendous sales of Friday and Saturday our large stock of men's and boys' furnishings and hats seems scarcely touched. However, the heavy drain of the next few days will surely make its mark on even a stock as large as ours, and we would advise those who have possibly waited to avoid the crowd, to come in at once.

to be able to purchase such clothes for men, young men and boys, as those tailored by Hart Schaffner and Marx and Ashland, at prices which are practically nothing when compared to former prices. Think what it means to buy other nationally known wearables for prices which sound ridiculous, they are so low. This sale represents the greatest opportunity the people of Lexington and the Blue Grass ever had to replenish their wardrobes with the best quality of merchandise at prices which are lower than any that are offered on even the poorest kind of goods. Men's and boys' suits and overcoats, shirts, underwear, hats and caps, gloves, hosiery, mufflers, neckwear, collars, belts, suspenders, etc. We are listing below a few of the items and prices, just to give the public a general idea of the tremendous reductions we have made.

All Gloves Less Than Half Price	Phoenix Silk Hose 49c a pair	Arrow Collars 10c each	Our Entire stock of Shirts, including Manhattans, for less than one-half former prices

Customers will please enter from the Main Street Entrance and exit from the Short Street Entrance to avoid confusion. This will greatly assist us in handling the great crowds. Doors open each day at 9 o'clock until further notice.

Please bear in mind that nearly every article in this sale is in perfect condition. But few of the goods bear any evidence of having passed through a fire—a small portion of the stock is merely soiled.

Lexington Board Gives Big Smoker

The following will doubtless be of interest to the members of the Chamber of Commerce of Mt. Sterling and Montgomery County and residents of this city and county:

Secretary Dunn, of the Board of Commerce, of Lexington, issued an invitation to the secretaries of the neighboring associations to attend and to bring with them their presidents and other "interested or even luke warm" members. Frankfort was there in full force, 20 men of Frankfort—leading business men—merchants, bankers, farmers, etc. Paris, Cynthiana and Versailles were each represented by from 10 to 15 men each—all interested and went home with their enthusiasm increased several hundred per cent. How about Mt. Sterling? President Hoffman and Secretary Sharp were there—several of our leading business men were asked to go, but the usual excuse, "too busy." Cynthiana, Frankfort, Paris and Versailles are not any better or basier than we are—Their men were not too busy to attend.

This smoker was a howling success from start to finish—shows the team work, initiative of directors and interest of committees—just exactly what the Chamber of Commerce of Mt. Sterling and Montgomery County needs and must have if we are to succeed.

Mr. Lucius E. Wilson, vice president of the American City Bureau of New York and Chicago, was the principal speaker of the evening and if the most pessimistic, the dearest member of the Chamber of Commerce of Mt. Sterling and Montgomery County could have only heard this wonderful talk he would have been immediately transferred into a live, wideawake, active member and booster for the Chamber of Commerce. He pointed out that one man in 50 in every line of business took the lead, intimated plans, etc., that the other 49 followed in his footsteps of the 50th man and that he was going to address the gathering together of the 50th men of Lexington.

The following are only a few of the things pointed out by him:

"The difference between a live town and one which is dead is that the former believes and lives in hope of tomorrow, while the other example believes in yesterday."

"Progress is nothing but a succession of beginnings."

"It is impossible for a Chamber of Commerce to move natural resources but it can benefit the community and make it wealthy. It can do three things—create an atmosphere of enterprise, teach the habit of giving and establish a patriotic spirit in the community."

"When you buy, buy land; but when you sell, sell location."

"The city or town that never does new things will never prosper."

"The most elastic thing in the world is a human being, and a city is simply an aggregation of these elastic units. It is the morale of the American worker that determines what he will do, and output may be measured by the ability to stimulate a desire to do something new."

It is indeed seldom that a bunch of men have the opportunity of listening to such an address as this and it is to be regretted that the members of our local organization did not avail themselves of the chance. There is only one way to build our Chamber of Commerce to the highest point of efficiency and that is by learning from similar organizations that have succeeded to that extent. If we simply withdraw within ourselves and refuse to take advantage of the experience of others, our own organization will drop to a deplorable state of stagnation for which there is no remedy. Let's get together, take advantage of every good thing that comes our way, and thus build up our Chamber of Commerce to the point where each and every one of us will be proud to say "I am a member."
